1. PROPOSED MARKETING, ADVERTISING AND COMMUNICATION TRANSFORMATION CHARTER

PREAMBLE

We, members of the broader marketing, advertising, public relations, communication and research industry as well as related sectors, recognise the critical role our industry fulfils in South Africa. We are mindful of the impact our industry has on millions of our people across all walks of South African life, therefore we accept the responsibility consequent thereto. We further acknowledge that marketing and advertising communication is the livewire of a free market-based economy. It is an intrusive form of communication to which over 47 million South Africans are subjected every day of their lives. For such a small industry, its power to influence South Africans is disproportionate to its size; hence the need to make it a truly South African industry is imperative.

This need was recognised by the Association for Communication and Advertising (ACA) in 2000:

"We, members of the ACA, believe that our industry should be the creator and custodian of truly outstanding South African advertising and communication ideas, ideas that while proudly proclaiming their African heritage, still communicate effectively within the global context. We, accordingly, jointly and severally commit ourselves to the harnessing of all resources at our disposal towards the transformation of our industry and related disciplines to reflect and represent the totality of skills and contribution from our unique South African experience."

This was an echo of the Public Relations Institute of Southern Africa's (PRISA) commitment:

"Transformation is the implementation of fundamental changes to the way we do things to become and remain a successful organisation. The availability of various talents, competencies and cultural backgrounds among members of the institute will enhance performance and stature. Therefore, PRISA is committed to a process of transformation that will accelerate opportunities for diversity and growth and will make its membership representative of the South African population at all levels."

In October 2001, the Parliamentary Portfolio Committee on Communications, an organ of the National Assembly, convened public hearings into the pace of transformation in the advertising and marketing value chain.

After finding that the pace of transformation in the value chain was unacceptably slow, the Portfolio Committee on Communications directed government, through Government Communications (GCIS) and the Department of Communications, to facilitate a consultative process with all stakeholders to find a common blueprint for transforming the industry. This mandate resulted in the first joint undertaking by all stakeholders to commit to a unified view and common approach. This was codified as "The Values Statement of the Marketing and Communication Industry". It was endorsed by all stakeholders, adopted and signed on 23 April 2003.

The Values Statement, reproduced in full hereinafter, is the foundation on which the MAC Transformation Charter is based.

VALUES STATEMENT

As a statement of values of an industry which is global in its outlook and reach, and genuinely South African in its roots, we of the MAC industry state that:

We acknowledge that like the rest of South African society, we have been plagued by the injustices of South Africa's racist past in terms of employee representivity, ownership and decision-making. We further recognise that the industry plays a critical role in the creation of wealth and the development of our economy, and believe that transformation of the industry is essential for its long-term growth and the upliftment of people who have historically been disadvantaged. In the spirit of the Constitution of South Africa, we believe that "South Africa belongs to all who live in it, united in our diversity and committed to improve the quality of life of all citizens and the potential of each person".

We hereby commit ourselves to the following values:

I. Inclusivity and diversity

- (a) The sector reflects and shapes the norms of our society. As such, it must be committed to reflecting the values and aspirations of all South Africans.
- (b) This requires that the industry – in its ownership as well as in the traditions and cultures it draws upon – reflects the diversity of the South African population.
- (c) The industry is committed to sustainable skills development, which enables all our people to enjoy access to the knowledge base needed to shape their destinies within the industry.

II. Soul of the nation

- (a) This industry works in the context of a unique transition – a transition described as a miracle.
- (b) We shall use our strengths to promote pride in the South African Brand.
- (c) The industry can contribute to the transition by promoting understanding and appreciating our diverse cultures, traditions, histories, abilities and disabilities. It can highlight prejudice where it exists by promoting tolerance of all human beings. In doing so, the sector can become a mirror of the soul of the nation.

III. Respect and human dignity

- (a) The industry works in a society where the poor, the illiterate, people with disabilities, women and children suffer a myriad of intolerances. While working for their amelioration and empowerment, the industry shall ensure that the dignity of all human beings, and in particular of these vulnerable groups, is respected.
- (b) The industry recognises the difficulty of escaping the stereotyping of any group. Where this has to be resorted to, the industry shall take particular care not to stereotype or use humour in a manner that negatively impacts on the dignity of the target groups mentioned above.

IV. Business and people's needs

- (a) We recognise that the consumer is at the core of our business. Recognising that the industry serves business in its endeavour to create wealth, we shall ensure that the requirements and sensitivities of the consumer are placed at the centre of all our creativity and planning. In doing so, we shall better serve the commercial needs of business as well as the long-term aspirations of the South African nation.
- (b) Furthermore, the industry shall be committed to abide by the principle of good corporate governance and by the highest standards of ethical business practices.

V. Responsible creativity

- (a) We are mindful that this is an industry which impacts on the views and aspirations of the entire population.
- (b) This means that the industry must act sensitively while endeavouring to break the bounds of creative barriers. Such commitment will lay the basis for a self-regulation regime that can best serve all stakeholders.

This commitment must not place limits upon the various freedoms enshrined in the Constitution of the Republic of South Africa, 1996 and protected by the Bill of Rights, especially Freedom of Expression.

The MAC Transformation Charter adheres to the Broad-Based Black Economic Empowerment (BBBEE) Act, 2003 (Act 53 of 2003), available on the Department of Trade and Industry's (the dti) website: www.thedti.gov.za. The MAC Transformation Charter is based on the principles outlined in the generic codes.

Stakeholder transformation charters are attached in ANNEXURE A:

Association of Advertising Agencies (AAA)

- a. MAC INDUSTRY SCORECARD: The BBBEE Scorecard for the MAC industry should be read in conjunction with the Second Phase BBBEE Codes of Good Practice (gazetted on 9 February 2007 in Government Gazette No. 29617), available on www.thedti.gov.za.

ANNEXURE A: STAKEHOLDER TRANSFORMATION CHARTERS

Association of Advertising Agencies

Transformation Charter

We, further, pledge ourselves to the actualisation of empowerment and transformation goals as determined by prevailing industry needs and dictates in order to achieve meaningful and total involvement of those formerly excluded from the real process. We are irrevocably committed to changing our industry for the better and shall only open membership of the Association of Advertising Agencies to those who demonstrate their commitment to transformation by adopting and signing this charter.

We will therefore establish the advertising industry as unique to South Africa; for all the people of South Africa; by all the people of South Africa; promote the constitutional right of equality and the exercise of true democracy; eliminate unfair discrimination; ensure the implementation of employment equity to redress the effects of discrimination; achieve a diverse workforce broadly representative of our people; promote economic development and efficiency in the workforce; provide training and skills through the AAA School of Advertising to students previously excluded from access initiate practical training programmes for skills development; change the culture of our organisation and members to accept and implement the changes; seek and accept equity partners to reflect the true demography and rich cultures of South Africa; support and encourage each other in reaching our stated goals in letter and spirit; irrevocably bind ourselves to measures to achieve these goals within a reasonable time.

INTERPRETATIONS

Advocacy body: Those members of the MAC Charter Council who endorse or influence the transformation and the MAC Transformation Charter, due to their work and/or stakeholders.

BEE: Is defined as an integrated and coherent socio-economic process that directly contributes to the economic transformation of South Africa and brings about significant increases in the number of black people who manage, own and control the country's economy, as well as significant decreases in income inequalities.

BEE accredited: Enterprises that have been accredited by the South African National Accreditation System, on behalf of the dti, and which meet the minimum technical and BEE criteria for rating agencies. The main role of the BEE-rating agencies is to provide an independent opinion on the BBEE status of enterprises. An accredited BEE-rating agency must have the capacity to evaluate, verify and confirm the BEE status of enterprises using the BBEE Scorecard as presented in Statement 000. An accredited BEE-rating agency cannot issue an opinion on an enterprise with which it has a conflict of interest.

BEE transactions: All transactions for the acquisition, by black people, of direct ownership in an existing or new entity (other than a small and medium-sized enterprise [SME] in the marketing and communication industry and in other sectors of the economy) and joint ventures with marketing and communication ventures or other equity investments in BEE companies (other than SMEs).

BBBEE Codes of Good Practice: The dti publishes the Codes of Good Practice on BEE as per the requirements of the BBBEE Act, 2003. The BBBEE Codes of Good Practice are to be applied in developing, evaluating and monitoring BEE charters, initiatives, transactions and other implementation mechanisms. The statement contains basic principles and essential considerations, as well as guidance, in the form of explanatory and other material.

Black companies: Refers to companies that are more than 50% owned and controlled by black people.

Black-empowered companies: Refers to companies that are more than 25% owned by black people and where substantial participation in control is vested in black people.

Black-influenced companies: Refers to companies that are between 5% and 25% owned by black people and with participation in control by black people.

Black people: As defined in the BBBEE Act, 2003, save that it is limited to South African citizens. In terms of the implementation of the Codes of Good Practice, the term is further defined as Africans, coloureds and Indians who are South African citizens. For avoidance of doubt, this term does not include juristic persons or any form of enterprise other than a sole proprietor. Regarding this definition, "black women" means black people who are women and "black-designated groups" means black people who are also workers, youth, people with disabilities or people living in rural areas.

Black SME: Refers to an SME with a turnover ranging from R500 000 to R20 million per year, which is black, a black company or a black-empowered company.

Black women empowerment enterprises: Refers to companies that are more than 30% owned by black women, and where substantial participation in control is vested in black women.

Broad-based ownership: Where an empowerment shareholder represents a broad base of members such as employees (to the extent that the options have actually been exercised), collective and/or communities, or where the benefits support a target group, for example black women, people with disabilities and the youth. Shares are held directly or indirectly through non-profit organisations and trusts. At the same time, directors and management of the groups should predominantly comprise black people.

Charter Council: Refers to a charter council established in terms of paragraph 4 (Role of Charter Council) of the BBBEE Codes of Good Practice.
